Results

Confirmed Exoplanet

95% confidence

The parameters indicate a planet with a radius similar to Earth, orbiting a Sun-like star at a distance of 1 AU with a period of 365 days. The derived transit depth suggests a significant transit signal, and the inclination of 90 degrees indicates a favorable alignment for transit observation. Given the low eccentricity and the transit duration, this is classified as a confirmed exoplanet with high confidence.

Download PDF